“...How good and How pleasant...” Psalm 133:1

The Psalmist wants us to carefully consider the quantity of what he values as ‘GOOD’, and then also try to measure the preciousness of what he calls ‘PLEASANT’. The question ‘HOW’ leads us to view something that is vast and of eternal significance. Brothers who can dwell in unity have a greater power working in them, to subdue self-interest and the work of the flesh, such that the power of God’s grace is manifest. This fragrant and refreshing influence comes from above and blesses all that fall underneath its’ generous stream.

Dear friends in Christ: Greetings to you from Morning Star Bible Camp in West Kelowna!

On the Home Stretch:

Our time in Canada has been quite profitable as we renewed our contacts with the Lord’s people in various locations across Western Canada. It has been a privilege to see, and seek to encourage, our friends in Christ. We have also enjoyed opportunities to visit with our family here in Canada. Though we still have a couple of months to go before we return to Ghana, we feel we are now on the home stretch. We look forward with much anticipation to be at home. When I say home, I don’t just mean the place we normally reside, which is something we are looking forward to, because living out of a suitcase has its own challenges. What I mean is that we will be where the Lord would have us, answering to the call to labour for Him among the people of Ghana.

We are in constant contact with the folks in Ghana, and tending to both physical and spiritual needs there. We are pleased to know the assembly carries on well in our absence, but we also long to join them and support everyone as they seek to follow our Lord Jesus Christ. There have been trials, and some challenges, but we trust the Lord will use our influence to help support the advancement of His purposes and growth of the church.

We are hoping to begin a leadership training program for the men of both assemblies in Kumasi. We want to use the materials available from ‘biblicaleldership.com’ to encourage and develop new leadership potential among our younger men, and see the Lord raise up elders to care for the saints in our area.

We still have a busy preaching schedule over the month of October, so we appreciate your prayers, so that the glory of God will be manifested for the blessing and encouragement of those we minister to.

Looking unto Jesus,

Daniel, Priscilla, and Keysha

“...For there the LORD has commanded the blessing, life forevermore.” Psalm 133:3
